But how are we to secure the needed fund? We wish every Christian brother and sister who has ever breathed a supplication to heaven for God's blessing upon that little nation, could have a part in this work; for then we should be sure that with every widow's mite would go up the widow's prayer—a richer legacy than heaps of silver and gold. But we think it not wise to secure our endowment in this way. We would not divert one mill from the regular contributions of this Board. And besides, we have not time to secure it in this way. Our stay in this country must be very brief. Our works waits for us. The king's business requires haste. We must go to those to whom God has in trusted much. Men of large hearts and large minds, who can give quick; quick! We have no time to lose. We believe that the Lord has laid up somewhere, thirty-five thousand dollars, But how are we to secure the needed fund? ford, and Mey London, and New York, cannot afford to let that people go back again to the poverty of heathenism, or to the still worse depths of Romish ignorance and superstition.

But there is another view of the importance of that little group, which is higher than all these. It is their relation to the great missionary work in all that island world. Thousands of islands are scattered all over the western Pacific, green and beautiful in the smiles of a tropic sun, but the night of death broods over them. Who shall carry them the light which will dispel this darkness? You cannot plant a missionary upon each of those Islands. Many of them are small, containing from a hundred to a thousand people. How shall they be won to Christ? God has provided the means. He who is wiser than we, sees the end from the beginning as we cannot see it provided the means. He who is viser than we, sees the end from the beginning as we cannot see it Though you knew it not, and intended it not, yet in sending the gospel to the Sandwich Islands you have kindled a blaze whose beams shall illumine all that western sea. Already have the hill-tops caught the rising rays, and those benighted nations are beginning to walk in the light of it. God has raised up a people eminently fitted to do this work. And they are ready to do it; they love to do it; they are eager to go. Already have they planted a mission in the darkest island of all that Ocean, and where missions from this country and from England have several times failed, these humble Hawaiians are winning souls to Carist. This, then, so far as we can see, is God's plan for teaching the isles his law. The Hawaiian missionary can go where we cannot go; he can live where we cannot live; and he makes an efficient laborer. But he needs guidance. He is not has laid up somewhere, thirty-five thousand dollars, during these forty years in which he has been raising during these forty years in which he has been raising up that people. We do not know where it is. He knows, and he will bring it forth for us. Is there no Brown, or Lawrence, or Williston, or Cooper, whose name we may couple with our humble College? Such men are noblemen. We honor them while living; we venerate their hallowed names when they are gone. They shall have a heritage in the memories of all the good—a heritage which kings might covet. But if it is noble to set up these beacons in a land which is all radiant with the light of a Christian land which is all radiant with the light of a Christian civilization, how much more noble would it be to build a light-house on those dark and dangerous shores, where nations are making shipwreck of im-LETTER FROM THE KING OF THE SANDWICH ISLANDS. can live where we cannot live; and he makes an efficient laborer. But he needs guidance. He is not so intelligent, and far-sighted, and prudent, as the educated missionary who goes from this land. He must have wise counsellors. At central points through that island world there must be stationed just such men as you are sending out from year to year. Where shall these men be found? You might send some from this land. But we think we have a At the close of Mr. Beckwith's address, Rev. Dr. send some from this land. But we think we have a better way. God has raised up in the Sandwich Islands a noble band of young men and women, the children of your faithful laborers there, and worthy of their parentage; carnest young men who see the work which God has assigned them, and who wish to prepare themselves for it. Some of them are already there. Others, who have not yet begun their college course, are now exploring the islands to find where God would have them labor, when they are fitted to go. We believe these young Christians will be better fitted for this work than any who go from this country can possible be. They know the language of the Hawaiians with whom they would be fellow-laborers. They know their peculiarities, and they could act, at once, harmoniously and efficiently together. This, then, is a part of our object, to train these young minds for this specific work which God has given them to do, to fit them to do as their fathers have done. For this purpose we must have a college in full efficiency. We must have it, or the work will cesse.

Armstrong, relative to the purposes of his visit to this country at the present time:

Palace, 10th June, 1857.

Mr Dear Sta:—With this you will receive my formal approval of your proposed departure to the United States, as signified in your official communication of yesterday's date. You are already sufficiently aware of my manoo (mind) with regard to the means of education in the higher branches for the rising generation. I feel this the more, perhaps, because it would be false modesty on my part to deny that my sphere of usefulness has been vastly enlarged from the facilities in that way that were formerly extended to me.

There can be no doubt that our friends in Ame ica have watched the progress of things here, and I do not think they will draw back in view of what has been done with their assistance and co-operation. I am sure that our veteran friend—with a long list of others, known personally or by reputation, will receive you wish the most cordial welcome, and zealously co-operate with you in future in the objects of your visit.

During your sojourn in the United States, you must represent strongly the necessity of the continuance of our College. We have undertaken a great work in giving our native youth the benefit of English schools, and surely we cannot in justice to them, leaving alone other weighty considerations, be satisfied with their proficiency in the preliminary branches of education. We want a College—one that will give us men who have the superior advantages of a finished education; men fit and capable to sit on a judge's bench, represent the people in the popular branch of our Legislature, and, if necessary, advise in the weighty affairs of the nation. We want professors, men of learning and of science; clergymen and physicians, lawyers and men of letters; and such men cannot be procured without importation, until we have an institution such as is meditated in our Osha College. We, as a government, have given as much as our little revenue will allow; we would willingly do more if it was i

That we have the material in the foreign and native population, my colleague has already shown you.

But when shall it be established? Now! now!
The cause of Christ needs it now. The nation needs it now. It has reached that point when its future will be determined by the immediate action of Christians here. It is with that nation, as it sometimes is with the Hawaiisn, in launching his little cance. In some of the beautiful bays of those islands there is no safe landing place. some of the beautiful bays of those islands there is no make landing place. Long surging waves roll in from the open sea, and sweep the whole circumference of the shore. He cannot row out against them. So he grasps his oar, and leaps into his little craft, and strong men seize it on either side, and bear it out over the first wave, and over the second, and over the

A report, accompanied by the following resolutions, was then presented by Chancellor Walworth, Chairman of the Committee on the Sandwich Islands, and adopted by the Board: 1. Resolved, That this Board carnestly commend this object 1. Resolved, that this Board carnestly commend this object to the patronage of the wealthy and the liberal friends of science and religion in this country, and advises these agents of the Trustees of the College to appeal to such persons rather than to the benevolent community at large, not doubting that such appeal will be readily responded to by those to whom it is ad-

So you have taken this little nation, and have borne it out over the first and second, and third waves of the troubled sea upon which it is launching, and now it stands poised on the crest of the highest billow. If you give it now an impulse onward, it will glide out into the open sea of independent political life, and the prospering gales of heaven will give it success. But, if you leave it now on this breaking wave, and give it no impulse onward, it will be driven back, and wrecked on the bleak shore from which you have borne it. 2. Resolved, That in the opinion of this Board, to give the Oahn College an emercial support is the most economical and effectual method, with the blessing of God, of perpetuating the missionary labor on the Sandwich Islands, and of extending gospel institutions over the Islands of the Micronesia group.

3. Resolved, That this Board has entire confidence in the before-named agents of the College, as well as in the Trustees of the fund in this country, who are to be charged with its investment, and that donors may feel assured that what they give will be furthelly accomplished to the object for which it is given. be faithfully appropriated to the object for which it is given.

IRISH POTATOES! AT LAHAINA OR HONOLULU.

Shall we succeed in this work? We must succeed. We shall succeed. We have no doubt of it. Not simply because the object is a worthy one; not simply because we find encouragement everywhere; not simply because of our own purpose in it. There is one thing which confirms our faith more than all these. In that distant land, so lately won from pagan bondage, there is a little band of Christian mothers praying that God will give us success. They pray for their children's sake, whom they have consecrated to this work—for the sake of that nation for which their tears, and prayers, and labors have been freely given—for the sake of the millions in the region beyond. Morning, noon, and evening, their prayers go up like the wrestling of Jacob. They are no common prayers; they are such as they have learned to utter in the dark days of uncertainty and trial—such prayers as went up in those days when thousands came flocking over the mountains and through the valleys to learn of Jesus. God has heard such prayers. He will hear them again. J. J. Halstead,

The first whale that we used the Bomb Lance on was killed in the following manner.—The boat went alongside of the whale and the least-steerer fired a Bomb into him and then fastened to him with a gig iron: the Bomb was heard to explode, and the whale did not blow after the Bomb exploded. NEW AMBROTYPE GALLERY. THE UNDERSIGNED would respectfully uncertainty to the inhabitants of Honolulu and the public generally that he has taken the rooms formerly occupied by Mr. Benson over the Printing Office of the Commercial Advertiser, where his now prepared to take

PICTURES ON GLASS AND PAPER,
Known as the Patent Ambrotypes and Photographs.
Having recently arrived from the United States, with good instruments and a new and extensive assortment of stock, he feels confident that he can give entire satisfaction to those who favor him with their patronage.

N. B. Pictures put up in a VARIETY OF STYLES, to suit

MELAINOTYPES. Or Pictures on Epameled Iron Plates, a New and Beautiful Improvement in PHOTOGRAPHY.

THE UNDERSIGNED would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above named style of pictures, a recent and invaluable improvement in the art of sun drawing. In richness of tone and warmth of expression, these pictures are not surpassed by any other kind, while, in regard to durability, there is no question as to their superiority; for they will receive a fall without fracture or injury, and may be washed when soiled. Hence, they may be sent by letter, without glass or case, to absent friends, at a very triking expense for postage.

All the latest styles of photographic pictures have been introduced and may be obtained at this gallery, finished in a superior manner, insuring likeness and durability; and arrangements have been complete with EMINENT ARTISTS in California and the east, to introduce at once any late improvements or new features of practical importance in the art.

Photographia on Pamer taken by the deep and Photographs on Paper taken by the dozen and half dozen, and pictures and paintings copied, either by the improved Ambrotype or Daguerreotype process. Also, likenesses inserted into lockets, pins, bracelets, &c. Photographic views of parts of the city, public buildings, &c., for sale.

Complete Daguerreotype Apparatus, fixtures and stock, for sale, and instruction given to persons desirous of visiting other parts.
